LIC Housing Finance's PAT surges over 500% to Rs. 925 cr

Chennai, Aug 5: LIC Housing Finance Ltd's net profit rose sharply by 503 per cent year-on-year to Rs 925.48 crore on back of uptick in net interest income, as against Rs 153.44 crore in the same quarter last year.

The net interest income of the housing finance company rose by 26 per cent to Rs 1,610.19 crore, as compared to Rs 1,275.31 crore for the same period in the previous year. Net interest margin for the quarter stood at 2.54 per cent, as against 2.20 per cent the previous year.

Total revenue of the company grew 9 per cent to Rs 5,285.46 crore in the current quarter. "With the easing of pandemic and better economic activity, there was an overall improvement in our segment. The hybrid work model has been widely accepted across the country, resulting in higher demand for better, larger residential units. This market trend assisted us with higher disbursements and improved financial performance during the current quarter," Managing Director & Chief Executive Officer Y. Viswanatha Gowd said.

Total disbursements were at Rs 15,201 crore, up 76 per cent, in the quarter under review as compared to Rs 8,652 crore in the corresponding period last year. Disbursements in the individual home loan segment were at Rs 13,131 crore as against Rs 7,650 crore in Q1FY22.

The Individual Home Loan portfolio stood at Rs 2.1 lakh crore, as against Rs 1.82 lakh crore as on June 30, 2021, up by 15 per cent.

The project loan portfolio stood at Rs 12,443 crore as on June 30, 2022, as against Rs 15,601 crore on the same date last year. The total outstanding loan portfolio grew 10 per cent to Rs 2.56 lakh crore from Rs 2.32 lakh crore in the earlier year.

Bob's Banter

Robert Clements

Take Your Shirt Off..!

Something terribly disgusting in our country is the glamour our political leaders portray through their ostentatious cars, their homes, their rings on their fingers, so on and so forth. The money they lavish on themselves so blatantly could easily feed a hundred families for a year or even more. And yet with no guilty conscience they display their wealth to the country at large.

I'll never forget Colonel Tutton from England, a dear friend of mine. We met after a number of years when he decided to visit India with his wife. We decided to lunch together and I took them to the Taj. "Bob," he said, "I can't eat here, when I know the same money could feed those urchins outside. Let's eat elsewhere and with what we save, feed them!"

We ate in a small though lovely restaurant and yes, many hungry went home with their stomachs filled.

A twelve-year old, Christopher Daniel penned these lines in England, where he lives.

It was by chance that we were born

To plenty in a land of corn. In other lands less favoured by The weather's hand.

It is a very bitter price they pay For want of wheat and rice.

Nigeria's Northern deserts spread

And leave whole tribes to wait for death.

In Bangladesh, the rains spill forth

And flood the plains from South to North,

They isolate the village folk

Who least can bear this heavy yoke.

It was sheer chance where we were born.

Should we not send them of our corn?

Sheer chance isn't it, that we are born into families where we don't have to wonder where or when our next meal is coming from? I am sure you will all agree with the twelve-year old poet as he winds up asking: 'Should we not send them our corn?' We should, shouldn't we? But before you shake yours heads in absolute agreement, I'd like to run this little story by you:

A speaker stood in Hyde Park and addressed an audience which was made of just one man. "If you had two houses you would give them to the poor, wouldn't you?"

"Yes," shouted his single listener.

"And if you had two cars, you would keep one and give the other away?"

"Indeed!" shouted his listener.

"And if you had two shirts, you would give one away?"

"Hey wait a minute," said the man who was listening, "I do have two shirts!"

"Hey wait a minute Bob!" you cry, "It was easy nodding in agreement about the politicians, their cars and their homes, but about our shirts..."

Japanese commendations awarded for promoting arts, culture

Chennai, Aug 5: The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Japan announced the award of Foreign Minister's Commendations for 2022 on Govindarajulu Chandramohan, President, ABK-AOTS DOSOKAI Tamilnadu Centre, and Gavva

Rekha Reddy, First Master, Ohara Ikebana.

Amazon India strengthens inter-city transportation

Pondicherry, Aug 5: Amazon India today announced that it has further strengthened its operational engagement with the Indian Railways, with more than 325 inter-city transportation lanes for movement of customer packages.

This is 5X increase in railway lanes since it began working with the Indian Railways in 2019, and is one of the enablers for the company to offer 1-day and 2-day delivery promises to customers in the hinterlands of the country. With this expansion, Amazon India

Chandramohan has contributed to the promotion of economic relations between Japan and India through organising various events and programs related to Japan. Reddy has contributed to the promotion of Japanese culture in India through teaching and introducing Ikebana in Hyderabad and now ferries customer packages with the Indian Railways to cities in Pondicherry.

Venkatesh Tiwari, Director- Amazon Transportation, India said, "Working with the Indian Railways helps us further that commitment, by offering a faster delivery promise to customers in cities such as Pondicherry for delivery in even just 1 or 2 days. We will continue to engage with the Indian Railways and create more opportunities to use the strong network and infrastructure built by them."

FISME hosts seminar on smart digital payment channels

Chennai, Aug 5: MSMEs, including retailers, form an important and growing segment of Tamil Nadu's industrial sector. With the rise of the internet economy, the retail sector is increasingly embracing digital transformation for improved customer services, offering an elevated experience.

Federation of India Micro and Small & Medium Enterprises (FISME) in partnership with Tamil Nadu Small and Tiny Industries Association (TANSTIA) hosted a virtual panel discussion comprising of bureaucrats, ministers and industrial experts, and moderated by Mayank Gaur, Joint Secretary, FISME, to deliberate on how MSMEs in Southern India are revamping and expanding their businesses by adopting smart digital payment channels.

Speaking on this, Anil Bhardwaj, Secretary General, FISME, said, "The impact of the government's push for digitization and e-commerce has been multifold. Due to technological advances, MSMEs are leveraging digital systems of payments such as Amazon Pay, to make day-to-day business transactions convenient for customers."

other parts of the country. The Foreign Minister's Commendations are awarded to individuals and groups with outstanding achievements in international fields, in order to acknowledge their contributions to the promotion of friendship between Japan and other countries and areas.

The Commendations also aim to promote the understanding and support of the Japanese public for the activities of the recipients.

The Consulate-General of Japan in Chennai extends its sincere congratulations and hopes that Chandramohan and Ms. Reddy will continue to play a significant role in strengthening bilateral relations during and beyond this commemorative year marking the 70th anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between Japan and India.

Chandramohan and Reddy will each receive an award certificate and a commemorative gift through the Consulate-General of Japan in Chennai at a later date.
